

JUNE 9, 1999

JEY is here and does come now with Love for each of you and does come in the will of the Creator as it has always been with this one who has come to use the voice of the one who is instrument. It is important for each of you to know that as you are gathered for the purpose of studying to be more aware of your spiritual relationship with our Creator, that you be willing to accept the Truth that you read, the Truth that you share with each other. And JEY is in your midst and is well aware of those thoughts that have been shared during this time of meeting.

JEY is also aware of the one who is in Spirit and is known to you as John, and would say that one does indeed have the ability now to share with those of you who are OMEGA and is allowed now to be with you and work with you as there is a necessity. It is important for you to accept that one, not as Spirit-in-Body but simply as Spirit, one who is now aware of those things of Spiritual worth, those things that can be shared with you from the Spirit Realm that will help you understand and recognize those things of Spiritual Truth.

It is important at this time that JEY would advise each of you as you hear those things that have been given to you through the readings that you have on hand at this time that you be aware it is important that you attempt to internalize the things that you have read. Indeed they are things of value to you, and it is important that you allow them to become a part of your life each day upon the Earth.

It is also important that you be willing to open your heart and mind to be able to become more fully aware of those aspects of your life that you will be concerned with when you once again are no longer Spirit-in-Body but will return to the Spirit Realm and will do that which is a self evaluation of that which was a part of you during this lifetime upon the Earth. Every activity that you were involved in upon the Earth became a part of the Spirit Within you, and it is at this time that you can begin to look at those things which you would rather not have experienced and would look upon as negative experiences in your life, and determine whether or not that would be an experience that you would wish to recall once your Spirit has returned to the Spirit Realm. Know that even now you have the ability to change direction in that regard. If there is a memory that you have which you feel would not be a positive experience, you simply ask that your Spirit be cleansed of such a memory; but yet keep in mind that your Spirit has been here for learning experiences and it may perhaps be that what your mental self considers to be negative experiences could have been another experience for your Spirit. Know that you simply ask then for cleansing those things that were not necessary for your Spirit upon the Earth at this time. And so JEY would advise you that indeed this must be done.

It is important for you to recognize that as you are now in a time of learning upon the Earth and looking for those things that will be a positive experience for you as Spirit-in-Body, know that you have the ability now to be careful in choosing the direction in which you go. Be careful in that which you know to be experiences that come about as a result of making decisions during your lifetime. And with this in mind, JEY would say to you that you have the ability now to focus on those things that are of importance to you and therefore of importance to your Spirit.

The lessons that you have been learning from those things which are communication from the one who was John upon the Earth as Spirit-in-Body do indeed have the ability to help you as you live your life daily upon the Earth. Be willing to accept those Truths that are given to you in those lessons that are intended for the one who was known as Louise but yet are to be shared with all who are OMEGA. Indeed, each topic is well worth your sharing with others who come into your life each day, for surely there is much good in talking about those things which are dealing with the Grace of our Creator, or those things which bear fruit with that which can be shared from every topic that you have touched upon in this time of meeting.

Know that as you are able to share such, you then are sharing Truths that are brought without delving too much into that which is your relationship with the Creator, for indeed these are words, topics, that all understand. And so feel free to simply share with others who come into your life each day as you have the opportunity to do so.

JEY is here at this time also to touch upon one additional subject. As you are aware, there is an opportunity for those who have the ability to do so to attend the gathering of many who are OMEGA in the days to come. It is important for you to understand that the gathering of those who are of like mind simply lend to an outgoing energy that can be generated from many who come together, who are of like mind, even as those of you who are gathered here. . . .the ability to generate much energy that can be felt by others who are outside this circle of gathering. Know that as many come together, there is indeed an opportunity for that energy to be spread far and wide; so keep that in mind as you have an opportunity to attend which will be the gathering. It is important for you to understand that as one who calls self OMEGA, you are blessed with many abilities. And so it is that you should cherish those abilities, for indeed they are gifts of God and therefore Grace. It is important for you to look upon each opportunity that you have to share that knowledge you have concerning the Grace that God does give to each one. Know that it is important for many to stop to recognize the many blessings, and thus gifts, of the Creator .

JEY at this time comes to give thanks for each of you, for you have come along this journey with an open heart and a willing heart in order to be able to understand the Truths that have been brought to you each time of meeting. Know that you are blessed beyond measure. And those of us who are in Spirit look upon you and give thanks for you each day, for indeed you are following after the path which is necessary for you. Be in a time of readiness for the days which are ahead. As you have the opportunity now to be aware of those things that are taking place upon the Earth, many things of Earth changes, many things of violence, you will know that you are in a time that is not ordinary for the Earth. Send out your thoughts of Peace, of Love; and do what you may at this time to change the direction that many are taking upon the Earth which is not in accord with the will of the Creator for life upon the Earth. Be at Peace. Know that JEY does indeed come to be in your midst each time you meet; and where there is a necessity for a message, JEY is always willing to so give. Know that JEY seeks for you to Go in Love and Be at Peace. AMEN.
